

POLITICAL ECONOMY: ECONOMICS RESEARCH

Kotishwar, CMR College of Engineering & Technology

I am pleased to mention that during the year 2019, all issues of volume 20 were published well within the time. The journal established in 2000 has now published 20 volumes; Four issues in a year and successfully completed 20 years journey. The journal Abstracted/Indexed in ProQuest, Google Scholar, Directory of Open Access Journals and also by different academic forums.

I am happy to introduce Journal of Economics and Economic Education Research, in the area of latest trends and research outcomes in the field of economics and the economic education with special emphasis on a critical analysis. Journal considers theoretical, empirical, applied and qualitative research as analysis, critical reviews and case studies in economics or economic education. The diversity of topics covered in all over world and it is not region specific and welcomes research exploring the growing economic interdependence between countries and regions.

The objective of JEEER is to publish up-to-date, high-quality and original research papers alongside relevant and insightful reviews. Methodologically we encourage quantitative, qualitative and mixed-methods studies with original empirical research and clear policy implications. As such, the journal aspires to be exciting, engaging and accessible, and at the same time integrative and challenging. All papers will be subject to the journal's double-blind review process.

As the global economy struggles under the firm grip of this COVID-19 pandemic, the burden of the slowdown has fallen unevenly among the various sectors. As is usually happens, the bottom of the pyramid is bearing the brunt of the negative consequences. As companies removing employees, cut down salaries and no increments and no bonus many are forced to joining the informal sectors and the gig economy and demand also collapse except IT industry. COVID-19 pandemic, India and China war and The U.S. presidential election, continued recovery in the world, and the truly remarkable, explosive growth of the digital economy will all impact business this year. Our challenge is to effectively engage these dynamics. Gold prices also increased and fuel prices decreased last few days. Researchers in multi discipline will analyze nature and impacts, of above issues.

The JEEER remains dedicated to focusing on how current events and changes in research and economic, business knowledge shape the business world and affect practitioners.

Any papers that you wish to submit, either individually or jointly are much appreciated and will make a substantial contribution to the early development and success of the journal. I would also like to express my gratitude to all the authors, reviewers, the publisher, the advisory and the editorial board of JEEER, and staff for their support in bringing out yet another volume of JEEER and look forward to their unrelenting support to bring out the Volume 21 of JEEER in scheduled time. Best wishes and thank you in advance for your contribution to the Journal of Economics and Economic Education Research.
